Objectives

This is an opening workshop for European National Museums: Identity politics, the uses of the past and the European citizen (EuNaMus). Starting here the frameworks for defining national museums are established and studied as institutional processes. Regional groups are to be established and to co-operate with the analytical work and as part of a dissemination strategy. The objective is to create operative definitions for the comparative study of national museums, to get a first overview of the most important national museums established in Europe and an overview of the quality of the literature to answer posed questions.

Contributions

This is the first workshops and the contributions from most participants will be a preliminary paper of ca. 5 pages. Participants are advised to read the WP2 Directions and to relate their research to the overall content of the project and especially the possibility to provide the requested information (see page 6).

Three main parts should be touched upon.

1. A brief presentation of the most important national museums suggested to be part of the final report. These relate to questions 1-3 in Minimum content on page 6.
2. An overview of the possibility to answer questions 4-9 and an assessment of the quality of the secondary literature relied upon.
3. Suggestions on how to develop the Directions in order not to miss important aspects of the theoretical and comparative scope.

As papers will be circulated in advance they need to be posted at the latest 14 April to Bodil Axelsson, bodil.axelsson@liu.se. They will then be made available for all of you at least one week in advance. At the conference you will have no more than 10 minutes each to state issues for discussion. Beamer will be available for power point presentations. Please e-mail presentations to Bodil Axelsson or bring a USB memory stick to the venue.
